

CIRCLE: Where do you think this image was posted?

Everyday Africa

Everyday USA

Everyday Africa

Everyday USA

CIRCLE: Where do you think this image was posted?

Everyday Africa

Everyday USA

Everyday Africa

Everyday USA

CIRCLE: Where do you think this image was posted?

Everyday Africa

Everyday USA

Everyday Africa

Everyday USA

CIRCLE: Where do you think this image was posted?

Everyday Africa

Everyday USA

Everyday Africa

Everyday USA

CIRCLE: Where do you think this image was posted?

Everyday Africa

Everyday USA

Everyday Africa

Everyday USA

CIRCLE: Where do you think this image was posted?

Everyday Africa

Everyday USA

Everyday Africa

Everyday USA

CIRCLE: Where do you think this image was posted?

In Buja the beach is never more than 15 minutes away and is the life and soul of the city. #Bujumbura #Burundi #EverydayAfrica

Photo by Sarah Waiswa. Burundi, 2019

EVERYDAY AFRICA

Playing Ludo and other games part of a youth gathering weekend at a youth Hub.

Photo by Mustafa Saeed. Somalia, 2019. @themustafasaeed

EVERYDAY AFRICA

CIRCLE: Where do you think this image was posted?

Baidy Agne, President of the Dakar Biennale, surrounded by the works of artists (L to R): Ouattara Watts, Cheikhou Ba and Amadou Sanogo) at his home in Dakar, Senegal.
Photo by Jane Hahn. Senegal, 2019.

EVERYDAY AFRICA

Said Abdi, also known as Mad Max, pose for a portrait during the shooting of his dance hall music video for the song called 'Walking Dead' - which talks about extra judicial killings and youth unemployment in Kibera.

Photo by Bryan Jaybee. Kenya, 2019.

EVERYDAY AFRICA

CIRCLE: Where do you think this image was posted?

Youth in Addis Ababa gather once a month for what they call “Poetic Saturday” which includes presentation of music, poems and talent that revolves around concepts ranging from romance and social issues to politics.
February 2019

Photo by Maheder Haileselassie.
Ethiopia, 2019.

EVERYDAY AFRICA

Members of the Vigilante Groups of Nigeria, Barkin Ladi Division speak with a young herder about preventing his cattle from entering farmland without permission from the farmers in Barkin Ladi, Jos, Nigeria. A long battle over territory between herders and farmers in Nigeria’s Middle Belt has escalated exponentially with more than 1500 deaths since January 2018.

Photo by Jane Hahn (@janehahn).
Nigeria, 2019.

EVERYDAY AFRICA

CIRCLE: Where do you think this image was posted?

A man is reflected in the window of a clothing shop as he crosses the road in Bulawayo, Zimbabwe, on Jan. 08, 2019.

Photo by Chinula Mandla. Zimbabwe, 2019.

EVERYDAY AFRICA

Résidents in Karack - my favorite Dakar neighborhood - celebrate Balla Gaye II's victory over Modou Lo. The much-anticipated Senegalese wrestling match on January 13 pitted two Lutte giants against each other. «The Lion of Guediawaye » as Balla Gaye is known, flipped over Lo in a powerful coup de grace to claim the win. People all over the city poured into the streets to celebrate. Football has nothing on Senegalese wrestling's popularity.

Photo by Ricci Shyrock. Senegal, 2019.

EVERYDAY AFRICA

CIRCLE: Where do you think this image was posted?

Mobile hairdresser plaits the hair of an okro seller at Mallam Market, Accra, Ghana.

Photo and Words by Nana Kofi Acquah. Ghana, 2019.

EVERYDAY AFRICA

For three days, I was in the maternity section of St. Paul hospital doing a documentary and witnessing mums delivering, nurses saving lives and innocent littles crying in starvation for breast milk making it the most touching and moving experience of my entire life.

Photo by Maheder Haileselassie. Ethiopia, 2019.

EVERYDAY AFRICA

CIRCLE: Where do you think this image was posted?

"turn him into stars and form a constellation in his image. His face will make the heavens so beautiful that the world will fall in love with the night and forget about the garish sun." - William Shakespeare

Two fashionable people give a brief pause to cameras at last week's LFW (Lagos Fashion Week).

Photo by Yagazie Emezi.
(@yagazieemezi) Nigeria, 2018.

EVERYDAY AFRICA

Mounts Mikeno & Karisimbi

Photo by Ley Uwera. Democratic Republic of Congo, 2018.

EVERYDAY AFRICA