

Close Reading Reflection

How does what you do when reading compare to what your teacher did when reading?

What did you notice or realize about the Jefferson document after rereading it again with your teacher?