

Exploring Underreported Stories: Article Analysis

Title: A Dad and His Teenager Are Talking Openly About Suicide. And They Say Your Family Should Too.	Author: Deepa Fernandes	Date Published: August 22, 2023
--	-------------------------	---------------------------------

Summarize: Critical Facts from the Text

- Be direct when something seems different in your teen's life
- Have conversations about mental health consistently, not just once
- Don't discourage talking about negative feelings

Analyze: What is the writer's overall claim?

- you should be open with topics about suicide and mental health in your family because it's educating

Evaluate: What do you notice about the writer's structure or organization? How effective is it for the purpose of the text?

The author lists out tips they find helpful almost like a checklist for what the parents should be doing

Evaluate: Focus on the multimedia components of the text. What photographs are used? Videos? Podcasts? Other visuals? How effective are they in adding to the purpose of the text?

The father and child have a podcast together and talk about suicide and mental health - This serves as an example of a productive open conversation that raises awareness between the father and the child

Reflect and Extend: What new understanding do you have after reading this article? What questions do you have that are unanswered from the text? What do you want to ask the writer? What related questions or ideas does this text give you?

Mental health is something that needs to be discussed and checked just about as frequently as all forms of health