

Response to “Intro to the 1619 Project” video:

Before Viewing:

What is a story you will always remember?

Who told the story?

How was it told to you?

During Viewing:

What is the significance of the images of the ocean in the video? (How does it connect to the topic?)

“And I just remember that the _____ about black people just did not match what I saw in my daily life.”

What is the story about the Civil War that some students in America are being told?

A vast majority of high school students do not know that the Civil War was fought over _____

What is one example of a story that has been “erased” from our history?

The 1619 Project is a massive endeavour by the New York Times to fundamentally reshape the way that we see the American story.

After Viewing

How does it make you feel to know that the story of America's history of slavery has not been fully told?

What can you do to be a part of the telling of America's truth?
