

Final Reflection Exercise
The Insulin Oligopoly and Insulin Gaps in Latin America

Choose one option below, and write one paragraph (at least five sentences) reflecting on what you have learned about insulin access in Latin America. Use the questions below as a guide.

Option 1

1. What did you learn about the insulin oligopoly in Latin America?
2. Who is most affected and why?
3. What new and interesting stories did you encounter while researching this issue?

Option 2

1. How do power dynamics affect what stories get reported?
2. What role does reporting play in bringing light to stories that are underreported?
3. How do the reporter's word choices, structure, and sources shape the way the story is received by the public?

Option 3

1. How does this story change your understanding of the relationship between reporting/journalism and justice?
2. What challenges did you face when researching health care disparities? What did you learn from them?
3. How will you apply this information to disparities in your own community?