

Name: _____

KWHL Chart Organize information about a topic before, during, and after learning about it.
K (What I already know)	W (What I want to know)	H (How will I learn more)	L (What I learned)
• I know that insulin is very expensive • I know that different types of diabetes require different things • I know that diabetes can be genetic/runs in familys • I also know that you dont have to have a bad diet/be in bad health in order to get diabetes • Insulin can be a treatment	• How many types of diabetes is there? • What is the specific cost of insulin? • Do you take insulin by needle or is there other methods? • Whats the pharmacy cycle? • What is neuropathy?	• I can search about the topic and read on it • I can ask my friend who has diabetes.	• There is a treatment but no cure • There is 2 types of diabetes • Excessive weight gain can lead to diabetes • Hyperglycaemia is an effect of untreated diabetes • Since medication is so unaffordable some people skimp their intake to make it last longer

KWHL Chart

Organize information about a topic before, during, and after learning about it.

K (What I already know)	W (What I want to know)	H (How will I learn more)	L (What I learned)
It has to do with the amount of insulin produced in a body. Often use finger prick devices to check blood sugar. Doctors often draw blood with diabetic patients. There are two types of diabetes. Diabetes is not curable.	Effects on the body Racial breakdown Early indicators The treatment process Age breakdown	Ask those diagnosed	High Insulin demand, Low supply 1.6 million died from diabetes in 2021 1921 Insulin is produced Type 1 diabetes are in high income countries 95% of people with diabetes have Type 2