

Global Health Threats in Conflict Zones:
From Between Shades of Gray to Ukraine and Beyond

Directions: Read the Pulitzer Center's Underreported Story: "Could a Conflict-Borne Superbug Bring on our Next Pandemic?" and answer the questions below.

Content-Related Questions:

1. What is AMR, and why is it concerning soldiers?

2. Why is AMR concerning the global community?

3. Who is one individual mentioned in the story that was deeply impacted by AMR, and what was their experience?

4. Why is AMR an underreported global health crisis?

5. Which people in power need to hear more about this potential global health crisis, and how can they take action?

Global & Critical Thinking Reflections:

Respond to the following questions based on the under-reported story Could a Conflict-Borne Superbug Bring on our Next Pandemic?

Connections: What connections can you draw between this story and personal experience or previous knowledge? How is this story connected to specific texts you have read?	Concepts: What concepts will you take away from this story?
Challenges: What challenges or concerns emerge for you as you reflect on this story?	Changes: How has your thinking or worldview changed after reading the story?