

Dear

I am you, but in the future, in november of 2020 to be accurate.

I know this seems to be just the beginning of another year, and I also know that you had a lot of emotional problems that were hard to overcome, but this is not going to be an easy year to anyone. Starting with the news in TV and social media about a virus that soon is going to be classified as a pandemic, that is going to get worse and worse, a lot of people are going to pass by. Don't be terrified because of that, you and your family -or our family- are going to be safe, everyone is going to be in quarantine, that is not going to have a big impact on you because you're not accustomed to leave home.

Anyways, a lot of things are going to happen in the next few months, but you'll always be calm. Of course you're going to be desperate at some point, you will also have an emotional crisis when you least expect it, but you'll overcome it too quickly.

I would say that the biggest preoccupation is going to be the school, you'll course classes like chemistry, AP Spanish, and recovering Biology. I wanna give you some recommendations to go through all these things: Don't stay up later, stop skipping lunch or other times for food, be in touch with your family in  wear a mask every time you go outside and maintain social distance, appreciate your friends because they'll be an important part to go through painful moments, love yourself, little Jairo <3 You are amazing, and you will realize that at some moment, I know you'll go through some pain by yourself, and that is going to be positive more than negative, because you'll have time to know yourself better. I know you'll be overcoming every obstacle, because that's what I've been doing so far. The best way to make your relationship with yourself will be to accept what is happening and not be hopeful about things that you know well that are not gonna happen. Because there will be a very difficult moment for everyone in your family, and you will be the only one that will be calm.

Additionally you'll get better at drawing!

Don't be worrying about your family, because all members of your family are going to be very united. That's something beautiful because you've thought at some point that your family is going to be distant.

I would like to tell you everything that is going to happen, but it wouldn't be challenging to you, and we both know how we like challenges. Besides I wanna tell you that your skin is going to turn more sensitive than it is now, that's something that I cannot explain why, just use sunscreen even when you are at home.

Try to walk at least half an hour around the block everyday, I don't want you to be diabetic when you grow up.

I conclude by saying that you are a very good person, even if you don't believe it. I also know that you're crying while reading this letter, because I know me, which makes me know you too. Don't let your emotions control you, you are who control your emotions.

Don't forget to brush your teeth. And please, let your turtle go after winter, that poor creature is going to be scratching the fish glass because she wants to be free.

Stop drinking coffee too often!

With love, your  from the future.

PD: you'll get sick because of a cold and you won't be able to talk for two days, and you'll have to communicate with signs, that's going to be kind of weird for you.